6. Manpowera. Induction

[redacted] The physical examinations for all inductees at GORZOW began at 0800 hours and ended at 1800 hours.

25X1

[redacted] on 22 May 1949. [redacted] at the RKU at 0800 hours, approximately 250 persons from the class of 1928 and several volunteers from the class of 1929 had also reported for induction. The entire group was transported by train to NOWY SACZ, arriving on 23 May 1949. Here they were assigned to a recruit training company for basic training.

No one was given an opportunity to select a branch of service. [redacted] no knowledge concerning exemptions or political screenings. The technical qualifications of the inductees were not considered. [redacted] one requirement for assignment to a WOP unit was a minimum height of 170 cm. He had no further details.

c. Length of Service

The normal tour of duty for personnel inducted into the WOP was 29 months. In March 1953 an order [] was published by the Ministry of National Defense, announcing that the term of service for inducted EM was extended to three years.

25X1

[] a number of officers state that the term of service was extended so that it coincided with the term for Soviet troops.

[] all other inducted troops in the WOP also served only 29 months.

The required length of service for career NCOs serving in WOP units was not known, but [] they were kept in the service until such time as their services were no longer required or until they were found to be inefficient.

25X1

[] in September 1951 the Ministry of National Defense published a decree which stated that some inducted EM would be retained in the service beyond their normal tour of duty and that these men would be promoted to all ranks, including commissioned. Such extended active service was to be credited towards their reserve service.

7. Soviet Mission

[] officers to command or staff duties in line units. In WOP brigades and in the Ministry of Public Security, Soviet officers served as commanders or advisors. The various subordinate departments of the Ministry were also commanded by Soviet officers. Details concerning the duties and activities of these officers were unknown. Soviet officers []

[] had been assigned to the Ministry since 1946, according to hearsay information.

The Soviet officers assigned to the Ministry received their instructions from an unidentified Soviet general officer, who resided at No. 18 Jasinskigo Street, WARSAW. This was hearsay information he obtained through conversation with various officers.

Regardless of rank, any Soviet officer exercised authority over Polish officers.

25X1

[redacted] Soviet officers at the Ministry spoke fairly good Polish. A Polish language class was being conducted two hours daily for the Soviet officers at the Ministry so they could improve their language proficiency. In addition, Polish language classes were being held for the Soviet officers' wives on Mondays and Thursdays from 1800 to 2200 hours. These classes were held at the officers' casino [redacted]
